THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L., SR.

Over the far horizon comes the sound of a muffled drum beat and the tread of many feet marching. The world awakens to another threat of war. Russia keeps shoving little nations around. The United States is attempting to halt this bullying. Your Uncle Samuel hates to spend the money, even though it is only a drop in the bucket to what a shooting war will cost.

The Russian adaptation of Marxist communism is not, we believe, what Marx intended. Marx intended that the common man would have the same share in goods, chattels, and real estate that any other man had, common or uncommon. That is, the state would own all property including the tools of production and that the people, the whole people would control by their votes its disposition. The dcitatorship of the proletariat did not contemplate, a dictatorship of a small politburo, of eight or nine men, such as controls Russia, with life and death rule over some 180 to 200 million people.

However, when the state takes over as it has in Russia, and is rapidly doing in all Russia's western border states, a small band of determined men, actually makes the rules. It metes out imprisonment, often death, to those who disagree. In Russia it sends millions to forced labor in lumber and mining camps. It leeringly calls this democracy, and by the use of the word confuses western democratic peoples because they envision something quite different when the word is used.

Both the late Lenin and Stalin have declined to consider that the western democracies and the Russian communists can exist in the same world at the same time. During the late war Russia accepted the billions of dollars of aid America proffered and very grudgingly gave thanks. But once the war is won, in so far as the defeat of Germany and Japan is concerned, Russia promptly embarks on a program of expansion. Having established communism in adjoining western countries, it needs only a short step to make them all into Soviet republics. In fact this seems to be on the way now, what with signing military and economic treaties with all of them.

The thing which probably embitters Americans more than anything else is the seeming ingratitude of the Russians, after having accepted aid which undoubtedly permitted Russia to win. Our food, munitions and equipment played a large part in the victory at Stalingrad, a turning point in the war. Another matter which is being gradually revealed is the part of the late President Roosevelt played in giving away a part of the American victory. The Kurile Islands on the northern tip of Japan were granted to Russia, giving them a stepping stone to our own Alaska. Korea was halved with the Russians under certain conditions, with the expectation that in due time Korea would have an opportunity to vote on the kind of government it preferred. Without consulting China certain ports were granted for Russian use in Manchuria.

For our part, we have never felt that the people of the United States should be bound by the word of a single American, even though he was president. As it turns out he gave away far too much. When we won the war in Japan, Russia immediately moved in, in accord with the agreement at Yalta. If congress, or the people of the United States had the opportunity to vote they would undoubtedly have denied the Russians those vantage points.

We have every evidence that Russian insistence on the veto power of any one of the "big five" was deliberately planned to wreck the United Nations. A majority of the nations can get nowhere and never can with Russia exercising its veto whenever she or her satellites are involved. Gradually the United Nations becomes a debating society, while the western world draws away from the eastern world and each girds itself for a war to the finish.

Whether the cold war will turn hot in one or two years, or will delay its opening while both Russia and the United States prepare for it, none can say. At any rate we have a naval force in the Adriatic off the coast of Yugoslavia, near Trieste, and close enough to Greece and Turkey to take a hand in case it seems necessary. We know from reading the newspapers that there is great activity in Alaska on the airfields there, and that in the continental U. S. a vigorous effort is being made to reestablish the air forces. Camp Beale is soon to be the site of bombing practice. Congress is pressed by the armed services to make the biggest "peace time" appropriations for them in history. We are preparing for war and let's not be niggardly about it.

BPWC FORUM MEETING

County Government

AN EDITORIAL ANALYSIS OF THE SUPERVISORIAL RACE

By Harley M. Leete, Jr.

CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR, NEVADA CITY DISTRICT

There is a basic question involved in the hotly contested race for supervisor.

The question is this: Are the voters going to elect a man with THE QUALIFICATIONS NEEDED to fill the job? Or are they going to elect a candidate whose major qualification is that HE NEEDS THE JOB?

Many, many years ago, the latter decision might have gotten by. Nevada county was a very small business.

Now the county is a huge concern, transacting hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of vital business every year.

This question has become vital to the taxpayer: "How much business ability, education and intelligence can the candidate contribute to solve the many and complex problems of the county?"

Wise voters will make their decision on a basis of how much the candidate can help the county, not how much the county can help the candidate!

SIX ROOM HOUSE ON COLFAX HIGHWAY BURNS TO GROUND

GRASS VALLEY: A six-room dwelling on the Colfax Highway was burned to the ground Monday morning, despite efforts of the Grass Valley fire department and the State Division of Forestry crew to save.

The building was unoccupied at the time the first flames were noted by Tom Nettles whose gun shop adjoins the place. Outbuildings were saved. The house was reported to be owned by the Riviera family. All furniture and personal belongings were lost. The damage was estimated at $5000.

WEATHER

NEVADA CITY: As if in acknowledgment of the state's drouth-plagued situation, the weather man has relented of his dry decisions in the past few days, blessing the area with rain, snow and hail.

Rain fell here starting Friday afternoon at 3 P. M., occasionally turning to sleet or snow. Moisture content of the varied downfall in this storm is reported as 2.75 inches by U. S. government weather observer Frederick Bush who makes his precise measurements at Pioneers Park.

Tuesday dawned grey and drizzly, with the rain occasionally varied by wet snow.

Plans are being made for a dinner meeting of young men from Nevada county in Auburn, March 18. Those who are interested have been asked to telephone or contact Warren B. Wright of Grass Valley.

SAN JUAN POSTPONES DANCE

NEVADA CITY: Due to recent stormy weather the North San Juan Chamber of Commerce has postponed its St. Patrick's Day dance in Twamley Hall, which it recently purchased, from this evening until Saturday night, March 20th.

This annual event is usually attended by large throngs from San Juan Ridge and Camptonville, Yuba county, and by many couples from Grass Valley and Nevada City.

NEVADA CITY: Fire Chief Ernest O. Young has received a letter from the Colfax fire department stating that the Colfax Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual St. Patrick's Ball at the Memorial Hall in Colfax on Saturday, March 20, with music by Rollie Barton.

The admission to the dance will be $1.50 per couple, and 50 cents for extra ladies, tax included. The Nevada City chief plans to attend, if possible, and believes that probably other members of the local fire department will also make the trip.

PVT. RICHARD GREEN COMPLETES MEDICAL SCHOOL COURSE

GRASS VALLEY: Private Richard W. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll E. Green, who reside at 376 Clark St., Grass Valley, Calif., successfully completed the Medical Corpsman Course at the School of Aviation Medicine, at Randolph Airforce Base, San Antonio, Texas. The course included training in care of the sick and wounded and prevention of diseases through sanitation and the like.

Private Green attended Reno high school and Grass Valley high school before his entrance into the army on October 15, 1947, when he also worked as a service station attendant and a sales clerk. He had his basic training at Lackland Air Base in San Antonio, Texas, where he received the marksmanship medal for excellent knowledge of the carbine and the pistol. From Lackland, he was sent to Randolph Field where he has been for the last four weeks. At the present he is awaiting assignment to a specialty technical school offered by the army to its new recruits.

SIGOURNEY URGES FIRST AID CLASS ATTENDANCE

NEVADA CITY: Ted W. Sigourney, Captain of the Fire Department First Aid and Rescue Squad, has suggested that all Nevada City firemen who can do so attend the Red Cross first aid instruction given by Miss Eileen Mair at the City Hall each Tuesday and Thursday until March 30th.

Sigourney had hoped to have the first aid crew attend the course but the dates fixed conflicted with the firemen's meetings and other activities and it will not be possible for them to attend all the sessions.

However, he states that he hopes that as many of the members will attend as many evenings as possible, even if they cannot get to enough to earn a credential. The invitation to the firemen to attend specified that the instruction periods will be from 7 to 10 P. M. each Tuesday and Thursday, including March 30th. The invitation further stated that all persons are welcome at the sessions which are held upstairs in the city hall.

CONVICT MAKES SECOND TRY FOR CORAM NOBIS

NEVADA CITY: Raymond Rogers, convicted several months ago of robbery, now serving time in Folsom Prison, has made his second application for a writ of coram nobis.

Yesterday Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins returned him to the county jail here. He will have his hearing, probably, on Monday. His first application for a writ of Coram Nobis, made several weeks ago, was denied after he had questioned members of the Grass Valley police department, the sheriff and sheriff's deputies, regarding conversations and incidents which Rodgers thought were for the purpose of intimidation to get him to plead guilty to the robbery charge.

BIRTH

SCOTT—In Grass Valley, Nevada county, March 6, 1948, to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Scott of Smartville, Yuba county, a son.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

APRIL 4, 1852—We buckled down to sluicing the creek Monday morning, and as we had plenty of water we put through a pile of dirt. It was working in the dark, for neither one of us knew whether we were saving any gold or not. I had my doubts and Pard was not sure, as the stuff ran through with a rush and it did not seem as if the riffles would catch the gold. It began to rain Friday night and we cleaned up the best we could Saturday morning, as we knew the creek would rise and carry out our sluices unless we got them up on the bank. We were agreeably surprised to find that we had caught fourteen ounces. Most of it was very fine, but there was a little coarse gold the size of pumpkin seeds and one nugget that weighed nine dollars. While not wonderfully rich it will pay pretty good wages. It will take three or four days to get our boxes set back in the creek, and, as it is liable to rain more or less during April, we have concluded not to try it again until the first of the month. By that time the winter rains will be over.

We had a good joke on John Hall and Delos Calkins this morning. I have got so I can speak French fairly well, and when the boys dropped over on a visit Pard and I jabbered away at each other in that language, throwing in a little English to Delos and John occasionally when they broke into the conversation. They listened awhile, but got more and more disgusted, and finally Delos said: "You think you are smart, but I think you are a couple of d——n fools. What is it, Choctaw or Greek?" We told him it was French and that it was our custom to converse with each other in that polite language, and he said we were a pair of galoots, who didn't know the difference between French and Patagonian. He offered to bet us an ounce apiece that we could not tackle the proprietor of the Hotel de Paris in Nevada and throw that lingo at him for five minutes without being taken for lunatics and chucked out into the street. Then he began to grin as if he had caught on to a new idea and said: "Why, of course, he's going to talk to her in her own language, 'Parley vous Francais, Madam?'" How they got on to it I don't know, but the boys all know that Marie is coming back and that there is something in the wind; so part of the joke was on me after all.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder if the fragrant breeze
That rustles through the forest trees,
Is whispering gaily, "spring is here
And blossom time is drawing near.
Brave little flags of living green
On every branch and twig are seen,
The skies above are blue and clear,
This is the joy time of the year."

Spring has come again to this golden dominion by the western sea and as ever Nature awakens and fills our world with lovliness and delight. The poppies are already in bloom and a thousand other flowers will follow in their turn. To the poet's query, "what is so rare as a day in June?" one might reply, "almost any day of our California spring time. "The good earth is in tune and whether we look or listen, we hear life murmur or see it glisten." Beauty's home is everywhere about us, flowers bloom, birds sing, the swallows come back to Capistrano.

When the swallows come again to Capistrano,
When their joyous homing pinions thrill the air,
When the nests beneath the eaves with life
are teeming
And the sweet Castillian roses blossom there,
Wait for me beside the Mission, Carmelita,
I'll be coming by the trail that skirts the foam,
When the swallows come again to Capistrano,
I'll be coming, too, my dear one, coming home.

When the poppies come again to Capistrano,
When fields and hills are clothed in living gold,
When within the old patio stately lilies
With saintly grace their perfumed buds unfold,
When across the fields the Angelus is ringing
And the faithful bow their heads in silent prayer,
Wait for me beside the Mission, Carmelita,
With the sweet Castillian roses in your hair.

Spring comes so gently, so silently to the waiting earth; the living graces unfold so naturally and so completely, there is no fanfare, no pomp and circumstance; the rain falls and the response is sure.

In lands still marred by the curse of war, it will be the same. Strange that man alone is so frightfully out of tune. Strange that revolting lessons of life are so speedily forgotten. Strange that this year's spring time should find nations still at war, still hating one another, still intent upon deadly conquest. Spring comes to the weary world, winter lingers in the heart's of men.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Ben's Bride Gets Chickenhearted

Ben Ryder was mighty proud of his young bride when she offered to care for his new flock of baby chicks. "Just like a mother with her brood," he boasts.

Then came market time for fryers—and the crisis! Sue simply wouldn't let Ben near her chickens with an axe. She'd raised them as babes . . . she'd named them . . . they were her very own!

Ben poured himself a glass of beer, to think things over sensibly. He hated to lose the price on fryers . . . but he figured Sue had put up with his peculiarities, he guessed he could put up with her fondness for the chickens.

So now Ben has the nicest brood of laying hens in town, and from where I sit, one of the most successful marriages, too. All because he "lived-and-let-live"—literally. And whenever he wants fried chicken, he takes his bride over to Andy's Garden Tavern for a crisp wing and a glass of beer.

Nevada County Long Ago -

By Floy Margaret Reynolds

20 YEARS AGO

Ben Bost, Nevada City businessman and assayer, revealed that thirty tons of rock were run through the stamp mill on the new Mohawk mining property at Gold Flat and shipped to San Francisco. The returns were $900. Mr. A. W. Sharpe had the leasing bond on the mine.

With the announcement that Ott, Mobley and Hogan did not care to succeed themselves, three vacancies were to be filled on the Nevada City board of trustees. Candidates for the positions were Wade J. Armstrong, Al Seaman, James Penrose and Louis Kopp. Ben Hall and Joseph Stenger were also mentioned but expressed themselves as opposed to entering the race. Officers for the biennial election were Mrs. Annie Byrne and Vincent Foley, clerks; Mrs. Annie Scheemer, inspector, and Miss Mary Hoskins, judge.

The girls of the seventh and eighth grades of the Washington grammar school were beaten by a girls' team of the Nevada City high school by a 20-17 score. The grammar school team included Eleanor Schreiber, Aeola Smith, Nadine Neagle, Kate Macari and Mary Costa. The high school team comprised Beatrice Cassidy, Helen Chapman, Lena Ghidotti, Katherine Davis, Beatrice Godfrey and Tilly Sowden.

Mrs. Katherine Ruef Celio, talented mezzo soprano, appeared as guest artist on radio station KGU in Honolulu while on an extended vacation in the islands with her husband, Gove Celio, retired Nevada City businessman. Mrs. Celio had frequently sung on stations KFRC and KGW.

50 YEARS AGO

Following the completion of telephone service between Nevada City and Washington, a line between Washington and North Bloomfield was contemplated. Instruments were to be located at Bloomfield and Relief Hill.

Postmaster Carr predicted that if the sale of postage stamps during the month of March was as large as the first ten days indicated, the Nevada City postoffice would become a second class office with the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1st.

The following officers of Columbia Parlor of Native Daughters at French Corral were installed by Miss Minnie Brand, Nevada City: Mrs. K. C. Wood, past president; Mrs. Annie Bean, president; Mrs. Laura V. Heath, first vice-president; Mrs. Mary Fogarty, second vice president; Mrs. Lois Miller, third vice-president; Miss Marie Allen, recording secretary; Miss Maud Heath, financial secretary; Mrs. Cassie Flynn, marshal; Mrs. F. M. Wood, Mrs. E. Solard and Mrs. Mary Fogarty, trustees.

D. E. Morgan, Fred Searls and Charles Schwartz of Nevada City were elected delegates to the Grand Parlor of Native Sons. Alternates chosen were Dr. C. W. Chapman, George A. Bailey and A. B. Wolf.

75 YEARS AGO

A. L. Patrick, formerly foreman of the defunct North San Juan newspaper, the War Club, purchased all the printing material and was moving it into the firehouse of Hose Company No. 2

it takes TEAMWORK to SAVE electricity

Water is the lifeblood of California, and the burden of the critical water shortage must be shared by all. Not just the farmer! Industry, labor, business and the home must carry their share.

Long, dry months are ahead. Likelihood of appreciable rain diminishes daily. WATER MUST BE SAVED IN RESERVOIRS to meet even minimum requirements for domestic water supplies, irrigation and power production the rest of the year.

EVERY KILOWATTHOUR OF ELECTRICITY SAVED IS WATER CONSERVED!

ALL POWER THAT CAN BE SAVED MUST BE SAVED!

Teamwork today, through complete and conscientious cooperation with the Public Utilities Commission power curtailment program, will help forestall more severe restrictions later on.

Effective cutbacks by business, agriculture and industry today will minimize shutdowns and unemployment necessary despite all human efforts to counteract the drastic effects of drought in California.

here's how YOU can help:

1 FARMER

You, of course, are hardest hit by drought. But everyone else is sacrificing to help you. Industry is taking drastic cutbacks in production. Labor is taking cutbacks in shortened work weeks. Business is working literally in the dark and sacrificing revenues. Housewives, too, are on the team. Your share is a major contribution . . . closing down one day a week your pumps that put precious water on your parched land. Any other power saving you can make will stretch your water supply.

2 INDUSTRY

Management and labor alike are part of the team. Industrial economy and payrolls are inseparable from California's farm economy. And water is as vital to industry as it is to the farm because the bulk of the power that turns industry's wheels depends upon water. Industrial curtailments today forestall more drastic restrictions and greater manpower layoffs later. Every saving you can make will stretch your power supply.

3 BUSINESS

Butcher, banker, merchant, . . . your business in this state is part and parcel of the State's economy. Your contribution in power curtailment is vital to you as well as to the farmer, the industrialist and the laborer. You owe conscientious cooperation to your neighbor as well as to yourself. Police your own premises. See that the Commission's curtailment orders are carried out to the letter. And take whatever further steps you can find to save power and thus conserve precious water.

4 HOME

No power saving is too little to save water. Switching off one little light bulb for one hour seems a small way to cooperate in this emergency. But multiply your one light by thousands of homes in Northern and Central California and you will save enough water to operate a giant 100,000 horsepower electric plant for that one hour. Housewives can and must play a helpful role during this emergency. Switch off and turn out appliances and lights when not in use. Every little bit of electricity you save contributes to the public good.

of that place preparatory to establishing his own paper, the North San Juan Times.

It was rumored that another attempt would be made to form a company for the purpose of building a railroad into Nevada City. Twice before similar propositions of a rail connection with Marysville had ended in talk and at a great expense. The new interest lay in a narrow gauge railway to Colfax, to connect with the Central Pacific.

A. Delano, familiarily known as "Old Block," in declining to run for state senator, published the following letter in the Transcript: "Notwithstanding my chronic desire for public office and my thirst for political distinction so inordinate, as the history of my California life has substantiated, I waive all claim upon the voters of Nevada county for senator in favor of my friend, Rufus Shoemaker. I think he would fill the place as well as any other citizen of Grass Valley. He weighs about two hundred and fifty pounds. Grass Valley ought to have a fair show and is entitled to the offices of senator, assemblyman, county clerk, recorder, treasurer, public administrator and coroner. You may distribute the other offices as you like, except that of district attorney and jailor; we want them. We don't want the office of county judge, as Mr. Deuel has left. Signed: Old Block."

"Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him" (I John 2:15), is the Golden Text for the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, March 21. The subject is "Matter."

The following citations are taken from the sermon:

Acts: "And when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and fastened on his hand. And he shook off the beast into the fire, and felt no harm" (28:3,5).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Love, which made harmless the poisonous viper, which delivered men from the boiling oil, from the fiery furnace, from the jaws of the lion, can heal the sick in every age and triumph over sin and death. . . ." That those wonders are not more commonly repeated today, arises not so much from lack of desire as from lack of spiritual growth" (p. 243).
